

Welcome

Reflection

God of the Present

"I also came to see that I should not worry about tomorrow, next week, next year, or next century. The more willing I was to look honestly at what I was thinking and saying and doing now, the more easily I would come into touch with the movement of God's Spirit in me, leading me to the future. God is a God of the present and reveals to those who are willing to listen carefully to the moment in which they live the steps they are to take toward the future. "Do not worry about tomorrow," Jesus says, "tomorrow will take care of itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own" (Matthew 6:34)."

—Henri Nouwen, In the Name of Jesus: Reflections on Christian Leadership, Prologue

Conscious Darkness

"After years of being taught that the way to deal with painful emotions is to get rid of them, it can take a lot of reschooling to learn to sit with them instead, finding out from those who feel them what they learned by sleeping in the wilderness that those who sleep in comfortable homes may never know. "One does not become enlightened by imagining figures of light," Carl Jung wrote, "but by making the darkness conscious.""
